CAA outlines terms for student attendance policy

By TYLER PIERCE
Staff writer

The Council on Academic Affairs outlined the terms for Eastern's student attendance policy Thursday, but did not create a position to officially determine what a legitimate absence is.

Until his retirement this year, Assistant Dean for Student Personnel Services James Johnson issued official excused absences to students who had legitimate excuses for missing classes. When Johnson retired, the university eliminated his position, thus leaving no one to serve the students.

"What we've done now is basically directed the students to the right office for any catastrophic things that happen," CAA Chair Ken Sutton said. "The vice president for student affairs will handle extreme cases instead of student personnel services."

The council amended the section on attendance policy in the current undergraduate catalog to clear up the change in the policy. The CAA also sent the official attendance policy document, which was given to the council for review, back to the president's office for that office's use.

"That document simply says that the process of appeals is first through the instructor then through the department chair and the deans," Sutton said. "That is what correctly exists as policy."

"The difference is, although we have the business of catastrophic or long-term absences taken care of with the vice president (of student affairs), we don't have a person to decide what a legitimate absence is anymore," he added. "That position has been eliminated."

The council at its meeting also spent a great deal of time trying to define what an academic major is. After a lengthy discussion with no definite agreement reached, the CAA made the decision to publish a modified version of the Board of Governors' definition of academic majors in the minutes of Thursday's meeting.

Sutton said he will encourage the college deans to come to the council and give input on the whole subject of evaluating the academic majors.

High school marching bands to compete at O'Brien stadium

By DELIA BAZAN
Staff writer

The sound of marching music will fill O'Brien Stadium as the 16th annual high school marching band competition begins Saturday.

The competition will be held from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Admission to the event is $3 for adults, $2 for students with an I.D. and free for children under 5.

Most of the schools competing are from the southwest part of Illinois, said Richard Barta, Eastern marching band coordinator.

Several of the competing schools are Belleville, Pinkneyville, Decatur-McArthur and Paxton-Buckley-Loda. The bands will be competing in five different Illinois High School Association classes.

The bands will be judged on auxiliary unit, percussion, woodwinds, brass and drum major. Musical performance, visual analysis and general effect will also be judged.

Eastern's marching band will also be performing at the competition. Barta said the competition is an opportunity for the university to recruit, as well as give the high school competitors a chance to see a university band perform.

"The competitors can benefit from observing the attitude and performance of an older and more experienced band," Barta added.

When the high school band competition first began 14 years ago, the university decided to hold the event in O'Brien Stadium since there was not enough room in any high school stadiums to hold all the competing bands.

HSU elects president, treasurer

By ELLIOTT PEPPERS

The Hispanic Student Union elected a new president and treasurer at its meeting Thursday in the Martin Luther King University Union.

Jay Martinez, a senior political science major and former HSU treasurer, was elected president and Carlos Flores, a senior sociology and political science major, was elected treasurer.

"Now that the elections are complete, (the HSU) executive board will have to come up with an agenda for improving appropriate procedures at our meetings," Martinez said.

"We're a growing organization and we are still learning about all the proper procedures," he added.

"I want to make HSU a success, not just for the university, but for the whole Charleston community," Flores said.

"Being treasurer means knowing how to spend the money wisely to benefit the HSU, which will in turn benefit the entire campus community."

In other business, HSU Vice President Karen Medina announced a week for Hispanic Heritage Awareness at Eastern.

"We met with members of the Human Potential Board and set the date for the Hispanic Awareness Heritage week for April 6 to 10 of next year," she said.

Medina said some of the activities planned for the week will be dancers from Western Illinois University and Milwaukee, Wis., and Sandra Cisneros, a Latino author to lecture on Hispanic Heritage.

The HSU meets weekly on Thursdays at 7 p.m. in the Greenup Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Jacket and contents reported missing

By CATHY MYERS
and CHRIS SEPER
Staff writers

Signs have been posted throughout campus by an Eastern student concerning a missing leather jacket that was allegedly stolen early Sunday morning at Thirsty's Lounge, 508 E. Monroe St.

Not only was the jacket reported missing, but an engagement and wedding ring set and airline tickets were inside the pockets of the jacket as well.

Barbara Fisher, 20, 927 Andrews Hall, and Eric Fisher, 24, of California, said they set the jacket down at about midnight while they played pool at Thirsty's Lounge. They discovered the jacket missing at about 12:30 a.m.

The couple reported the items missing, which were valued at more than $2,000, to the Charleston Police Department.

According to the police report, no arrests were made.

• A ceiling light in the men's restroom of Hardee's, 315 Lincoln Ave., was damaged at about 2 a.m. Sunday.

The damage was estimated at $125 for the light, and the area surrounding the light fixture, which was also damaged. No arrests were made.

• Food was thrown throughout the kitchen, and 10 compact discs and a bicycle were allegedly stolen from an apartment at 2600 Cambridge late Monday or early Tuesday morning.

No arrests were made, but the bicycle has been found.

• Theodore Dunn, 19, 2500 Nantucket, was arrested for disorderly conduct at Panther Lounge, 1421 S. Fourth St., at about 11 p.m. Wednesday.

• Paul Chandler, 723 Coolidge Ave., was arrested for harassment by telephone at about 8 a.m. Tuesday. No other details were given in the police report.

• Scott Schable, 22, and Tim Shellberg, 22, both of 1206 Garfield Ave., were arrested for disorderly conduct at their residence at about 5 a.m. Sunday.

• Jason Heath, 20, of Neoga, and Jeffrey Caldwell, 19, of Mattoon, were arrested for disorderly conduct and resisting arrest at Stix, 1412 Fourth St., at about 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

Campus:

The following is a report filed with the University Police Department:

• An Eastern student reported criminal damage to a vehicle at 12:47 p.m. Thursday in Lot F by Stevenson Hall.

The student reported a broken window of her 1986 Toyota Celica to campus police between 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and 1 p.m. Thursday, according to police reports. The damage is estimated at about $412.

Local survey doesn't include enough people

It is not unusual for people to jump to conclusions.

However, in a scientific survey, jumping to conclusions makes the survey invalid.

Such was the case in a recent alcohol survey conducted by several doctors and lawyers from Charleston and the surrounding area. The doctors involved in the survey are all members of Doctors and Lawyers for a Drug-Free Youth, which is a research group focusing on underage alcohol and tobacco issues.

Editorial The story, which recently appeared in The Daily Eastern News, stated that Charleston was ranked among the highest of 29 cities in percentage of underage drinkers. Carbondale was listed as having the highest percentage of underage drinkers and purchasers followed closely by both Champaign and Charleston.

Even though the intentions of the survey were valid, the method of the survey was not.

The Charleston portion of the research only surveyed 85 out of 10,000 students attending Eastern. Also, the survey was issued during the summer when a majority the college students are home for the summer break.

As a matter of fact, in each of the 29 cities in the 17 Midwestern and Eastern states surveyed, only 85 underage individuals in each city was interviewed.

Another city involved in the survey included Carbondale, a city with a population of more than 25,000 people and an additional 24,000 Southern Illinois University students. According to the survey, Carbondale maintains the highest in the percentage of underage drinkers. However, researching 85 underage individuals seems like a drop in the bucket when looking at the whole picture of the city population.

Champaign, a city with a population of more than 70,000 people and an additional 36,000 University of Illinois students, was also ranked with a high percentage of underage drinkers in the alcohol survey. Again, only 85 underage individuals were interviewed about their drinking habits and methods of obtaining liquor.

Although the intentions of the group's survey were good, as we believe underage drinking is a problem, a larger survey pool needs to be researched.

Our public ivy needs to be clipped

Ivy? What's this I hear about Eastern associating itself with the word Ivy? Ok, ok, there is some green stuff growing up the walls of Old Main, and there are a couple of gothic looking whatchamacallits on the roof but those are about the only similarities that I can find between Eastern and Ivy.

Alright, maybe it is good public relations but isn't it a bit deceiving? Don't Ivy schools recruit professors and then pay them close to what they're worth? They do make an attempt to keep them at the university, don't they? Gee wiz, good professors don't grow on trees, ya know. Unlike Physical Plant administrators and scandalous newsbreaks under the Rives administration. Sigh. Just maybe there comes a time when the administrators deserve a break. After all the accusations, investigations, relocations and resignations, these poor folks could use one I'm sure. Maybe the time has come to put all the black marks behind us, or them. Maybe the time has come to create a kinder and gentler campus with excuses and justice for all, or none. Maybe I need to say bad marks, instead of black. Maybe I need to put myself in others shoes or maybe I need to just look out for myself. Maybe I'm getting way off track.

Jay Askin

The point is, as our faculty faces cuts in pay and benefits and everyone is pointing and flying the finger at someone else, and with all the BS and bad PR we've experienced, can we at Eastern Illinois University even consider ourselves in the same league as a Harvard or a Yale? I think NOT!

Let's look at what the university faces. No money for faculty but cushy jobs for family and friends. Rising tuition and student fees. A governor who blames the financial policies of the past and refuses to help. Of course, he's already graduated. We've got Mr. Education-environmental-feed-the-hungry-so-long-as-it-doesn't-come-out-of-my-stealthy-wealthy-God-bless-America-defense-pocket President shafting us. All of these obstacles add up to tougher times ahead for Eastern.

However there is a way to solve all of Eastern's Problems. If the administration will place my brothers Bruno, Beartrap and myself in charge of the Anyways and Means Committee, we could clean out — I mean — clean up the university in no time. Hell, we could even start with the Physical Plant.

But seriously, I for one am pretty disgusted with Eastern and its administration and felt some things needed to be said. Now ... Let me hear some of those brainless, If-you-don't-like-it-why-don't-you-leave remarks. P.S. I'm sorry if I forgot to include anybody.

—Jay Askin is a staff writer and columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Your turn

Isolated violence not indicative of Operation Rescue

Dear editor:

In your Sept. 5 editorial ("Pro Life group actions create opposite image"), you cast doubt upon the sincerity and motivation of Operation Rescue because some protesters "broke federal injunctions and 'roughed up' one of the three clinic directors."

First of all, this incident involved only a small number of people associated with Operation Rescue.

To imply that the entire group is dedicated to only three of your four standards of civil disobedience or to imply that the whole group advocates violence is an incorrect generalization.

You use "Martin Luther King Jr. and his civil rights movement" as an example of properly enacted civil disobedience. Yet during that turbulent civil rights era there were many examples of black violence — many long hot summers in America's major cities.

It would be irresponsible to generally condemn the civil rights movement by singling out those incidents as representing the real philosophy of Dr. King and the civil rights movement, and it is irresponsible to do the same in regard to Randall Terry and Operation Rescue.

When issues of human life and dignity are the subjects of intended non-violent confrontation, violence sometimes occurs.

We should not condone such violence. We should also not use such isolated incidents to cast doubt upon the motives of whole groups.

While I don't condone the isolated incidents of violence within the civil rights movement, I understand that some people can lose their tempers when they feel their human dignity has been repeatedly violated. While I don't condone the isolated incidents of violence within Operation Rescue, I can see how some people who care very deeply might consider the roughing up of a clinic director pretty small beans compared to the outrage of 1.6 million babies destroyed annually. The fact of the matter is that despite isolated incidents to the contrary, both the civil rights movement and Operation Rescue advocate non-violence.

Some people with questionable motives tried to use the isolated violence of the civil rights movement to discredit the cause of civil rights. I hope you do not have a similar agenda regarding pro-life.

Finally, your quote of the day, attributed to Geoffrey Stone, reads "Here (in the case of Operation Rescue) the demonstrators are making a judgment that the other people don't have the right (to an abortion)."

I suppose that is somehow supposed to make us gasp at the audacity of Operation Rescue. What if it had read "Here (in the case of the civil rights movement) the demonstrators are making a judgment that the other people don't have the right (to discriminate on the basis of race)?" Would you still expect us to gasp?

Conference highlights Illinois' fragile prairies

By LIZ SZORC
Staff writer

Protecting and managing tall prairie grass will be the focus of the Third Central Illinois Prairie Conference on campus Saturday and Sunday.

The Grand Prairie Friends of Illinois is a conservation group dedicated to the protection, stewardship and education values of Illinois' prairies. This weekend's event is sponsored by the Grand Prairie Friends in conjunction with the department of botany and various other groups.

"Over 30 speakers from either universities, the Department of Conservation in Illinois and Indiana, or former Eastern graduates in the field, will present talks on prairie restoration," said John Ebinger, professor of botany and conference co-chair.

Three speakers scheduled for Saturday will start the conference in the University Grand Ballroom.

Brian Anderson, director of the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission; Michael Jeffords, associate professional scientist; and Susan Post, assistant research biologist; are representatives from the Illinois Natural History Survey presenting "Images of Prairie" at 4:10 p.m. According to Ebinger, the presentation will consist of a slide show of prairie land all around the United States.

Discussions at the conference, to be held on the third floor of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union, include sessions on prairie life, community restoration and management, threatened and endangered species and geology.

Also included in the conference will be art exhibit of 40 to 50 pieces by various artists and photographers. The exhibit was organized by Jackie Worden, art exhibit coordinator.

Those attending the conference can tour prairies in and around Charleston, Effingham, Champaign-Urbana, Danville, Mason and Kinmundy on Sunday.

Anyone interested in attending can register from 7:30 to 9 a.m. Saturday. The fee is $25, which includes Saturday lunch, but dinner is an additional $7.50. There is no charge for Sunday's field trip.

Student pianist to perform music of famous artists

BY MIKE GRANSE
Staff writer

Ingrid Barancoski, a second year Eastern graduate student, will perform a piano recital at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Dvorak Concert Hall.

Barancoski was born in Caritiba, Brazil, and completed her undergraduate work at the School of Music and Fine Arts of the State of Panama, also located in Caritiba. Currently attending Eastern, Barancoski studies piano under George and Karen Sanders, she said.

Barancoski has had years of experience at the piano keys and has received several awards for her talent.

"I have received some awards at several national piano competitions in Brazil," Barancoski said. "I have played with orchestras and have done solo recitals and chamber music."

The musical program for Sunday's piano recital will include Mozart's sonata K333, Beethoven's sonata Opus 31 Number 3, Brahms' Opus 118 and several etudes by Scriban, Chopin and Liszt, Barancoski said.

Kutchie

BY CATHY BEHRENDT

Polish those beads and get fired up, reggae enthusiasts, because Tony Bell & Kutchie are back for their sixth Eastern appearance Saturday night.

Bell and Kutchie will host the very last gig of the Tony Bell & Kutchie's whirlwind weekend college tour Saturday at Marty's, 1466 Fourth St.

In their four years of existence, Tony Bell & Kutchie have opened for the "grandfather of reggae," John Holdt, as well as the New York based Skattalights, Third World, Yellowman, and the Mighty Diamonds.

Last New Year's Eve at Chicago's International Amphitheatre, they opened to a crowd of 22,000 for the Isley Brothers. After the Ampitheatre, Marty's may be a bit of an adjustment, but lead vocalist Tony Bell didn't seem to care.

"We're gonna groove and have everybody a great time," said Bell in his Jamaican-accented phone interview from his home in Wheeling. "We don't have a game plan except that."

"We just did the Wild Hare (Chicago reggae bar) last week, and everybody was partyin' and groovin'," said Bell.

"My type of reggae is a wide cross-section; message, religious, some love songs, some dance. It's music for everybody," explained Bell. "I've got one calypso song that everybody seems to like - I try to reach all the audience."

Religious songs are based on memories of Bell's home; raised by his grandmother in Kingston, Jamaica, Bell was "born and brought up with music... We didn't have a church because we belong to an old African religion - church was at our house. There was always singing goin' on."

"As I grew up, I got into reggae music - it's the national music of Jamaica," said Bell.

Although originally from Jamaica, Tony Bell & Kutchie are no strangers to Charleston. But likewise, they're not strangers to success, either.

Their first album, Mercy, nearly placed the reggae rockers on the Grammy's Best New Reggae Artist ballot. Mercy, released in February 1990, was penciled in for a Grammy nomination from the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, but it didn't make the final cut.

The International Reggae Music Awards, however, had no such reservations about Tony Bell & Kutchie; they won awards for both Best New Band and Best Back-up Band in 1990.

An as-of-yet untitled second album is in the works at Bell's home-based Chicago studio and the acoustic track of "Never Gonna Give You Up" he played to this writer over the phone promises future kudos from fans and award committees alike.

The first single, "Peanut Butter And Jelly," will be released in the next month, while the rest of the album will be out by February 1992. According to Bell, "More (hits) are comin' down the line."

This summer, Tony Bell & Kutchie played a fraternity party in Champaign which was attended by not only 1,500 revelers. Among those in attendance at the party was, of all things, an MTV camera crew.

According to Bell, MTV will be coming out with a MTV pilot entitled "Reggae in the Midwest," which will feature Tony Bell & Kutchie as major midwestern reggae artists.

How did Jamaican-born Tony Bell end up with

Blow Up a classic pop explosion

The Smithereens
Blow Up
Capitol Records

By TIM SHELLBERG

What is old is new and what is new is old on Blow Up. The Smithereens, here on their fourth full-length release, have thrown their very own home-spun curve ball back into Beatles '65, only to catch it in the oh-so stagnant world of 90's pop. Because of its ability to pull the past into the present without taking away of the former's fabness or digging itself knee-deep in nostalgia, Blow Up is probably the Smithereens' breakthrough album. And it's about time. Since Especially For You, their 1986 debut, the Smithereens have had a penchant for mixing John Lennon's "I'm A Loser" with pre-modern sonics and acoustics. 1988's Green Thoughts and 1989's 11 intensified the thrash, yet the Beatle-isms continued to remain the same. With every new album, the Smithereens' have gained a wider audience, and by 11, they seemed on the verge of R.E.M.-sized success. Unlike Thoughts and 11, however, the guitar chords aimed at the jugular are held to a minimum on Blow Up, with smooth, catchy hooks and harmonies prevailing; don't let "Top Of The Pops," the album's lead-off track, fool you, because at least 75 percent of Blow Up seems as fresh as any Beatles album released prior to Rubber Soul did to a Fab Four fan.

Yet Blow Up also contains the Smithereens' most original works as well. By lowering the boom on the "bang" frequently found on Thoughts and 11, the seemingly tranquil melodies amplify band leader Pat DiNizio's depressions louder than the norm. On "Get A Hold Of My Heart" and "Anywhere You Are," the album's ballads, DiNizio's usual doom and gloom is much more intense because of the songs' slower pace. Maybe if the guy has a date, though, he might be a little more upbeat the next time around. But don't Pat's lack o' love doesn't reach Morrissey's mundane lows; Blow Up has positive pop written over it. Right now, this album very well could be the album of the year based solely on the level of pleasure received upon its very first listening. And after one listen, you can't put Blow Up away no matter how hard you try.

Tin Machine rusts

Tin Machine
Tin Machine II
Polygram/Victory music

In 1989, David Bowie ceased being David Bowie and became, in his own words, "just a member of a band." That band, being Tin Machine, was 1989's loudest quiet surprise with the release of their self-titled debut album. Thanks mainly to the axe-kinetics of Reeves Gabriels, Tin Machine was a sonic temple of its own. But what the hell happened? Tin Machine II, a "kinder, gentler" version of Bowie and Co., is a yogurt of an album; it's smooth and tasty going down, but in the end it's all empty calories. Lacking the sonics and insubleties of the first album, II is 12 tracks full of incomplete thoughts, and is probably Bowie's worst album ever. II is dissatisfying from the start. Some of the many lower-than-low points include "Baby Universal," the album's opener, which is silly; "Shopping For Girls" borderedlines on the Psychedelic Furs and the jittery "You Can't Talk" isn't even worth the mention. The only tracks on II worth mentioning are the Gabriels-flavored "One Shot" and "State-side." These tracks only reinforce that Gabriels is the "Machine" in Tin Machine. It's hard to believe Bowie - as simply a band member - couldn't put out something of the first Machine's caliber. He's been called Ziggy Stardust. He's been called the Thin White Duke. But be-cause of Tin Machine II, he should be called the Dork.

Distinguished UI artist to be recognized at Tarble

By MONA GABBARD

A reception will be held to honor award-winning artist Barbara Kendrick at 5 p.m. Friday at the Tarble Arts Center in honor of her exhibition "Barbara Kendrick: Drawings in Two and Three Dimensions."

The reception, which is also being held in conjunction with national Arts Week, is free and open to the public.

Kendrick has received many prestigious awards and fellowships from the Illinois Arts Council and the Mid-America Arts Alliance. Kendrick said these are competitive awards compared to those given by the National Endowments for the Arts.

Kendrick is presently a faculty member of the School of Arts and Design at the University of Illinois-Champaign, where she is a painting instructor. She received a bachelor's degree in printmaking from the University of Nebraska and later graduated from Ohio State University with a master's degree in painting and drawing.

Kendrick describes the inspiration for her work as "the comparison between the natural world which surrounds us and the humans which live in it," and she feels there is a great connection between the world of botany and the world of anatomy.

Kendrick uses sticks and twigs covered with graphite to create human forms in action. The viewer, Kendrick says, is "left to make his or her own decision" about the work.

One particular piece, "In the Park of Gestures," is described by Kendrick as "deliberately ambiguous." She said she sees the piece as "not as a singular experience, but as an open experience, a wider reading."

Donna Meeks, curator of education at Tarble, says Kendrick's art is "poetic and concise." Meeks says she particularly enjoys the comparison between the drawings on paper and the sculptures on the wall.

She also makes aware the felling of a shared history and a shared place being this planet. Meeks describes "Parting," her favorite piece in the exhibition,

One of the Kendrick's pieces from her exhibition, "Drawings in Two and Three Dimensions," as "simple and poetic."

"("Parting") is a piece with layers of meaning," said Meeks. "Any person can come away with something that is special to themselves."

Kendrick's work has been shown all over the states in places such as Chicago, Lincoln and Omaha, Neb. and Kansas City, Mo. Currently, she is working on a site-specific ic installation piece for Edinboro University in Edinboro, Penn.

Kendrick's works will be on display at the Tarble Arts Center until October 13th.

We can finally wake up from Freddy's nightmare

By BRET LOMAN

It's the best feeling to see a truly wonderful movie. It doesn't matter if it was a comedy, drama, horror or other — it's just the fact that you laughed or cried. You know that you got your money's worth.

We've all had that feeling before.

However, movie studios have found ways to destroy that feeling — sequels. As many times as there has been a good sequel, such as "Terminator 2: Judgement Day," there's been one that was worse; for instance, "Bill & Ted's Bogus Journey."

Hollywood doesn't seem to have any rules for making a sequel. Sometimes money doesn't seem to matter. "Eddie and the Cruisers" made absolutely nothing at the box office. A few years later, "Eddie Lives: Eddie and the Cruisers II" was released and made even less. Not even a year passed between the release of "Child's Play" and "Child's Play 2."

The only thing the studios want is a profitable sequel. This week I had the pleasure to see the studios' greed at work in the form of "Freddy's Dead: The Final Nightmare."

"Freddy's Dead: The Final Nightmare" again stars Robert Englund as the charred child killer. Since there's no number in the title, I'll remind you this is the sixth movie in the "Nightmare on Elm Street" series that began way back in 1985.

In Freddy's new adventure, we learn Freddy has pretty much cleared out the children of Elm Street. In fact, Freddy has killed almost all the kids in the town (that must have been one big town), and he's on the tail of the last kid.

But Freddy has other intentions than just killing the boy; he's using him to find his long lost child. Before Freddy died years and years ago, he had a child.

And he wants to find his blood so he/she can help Freddy spill more of it elsewhere.

"Freddy's Dead: The Final Nightmare" will probably satisfy even the most die-hard "Nightmare" fans. It has Freddy, humor, gore, a funny cameo by Roseanne and Tom Arnold and 15 minutes of the film's ending is in 3-D.

But I expected a lot. Since New Line

Cinema promises this will be the last, I have to confess I was let down. The film had potential; the cast is better than normal, and director Rachel Talalay keeps Freddy and the action under control. The 3-D was also a nice addition.

However, I really didn't enjoy watching Freddy. I think I'm just Freddyed out. The script wasn't exactly Shakespeare either, but Freddy has gotten old, and the idea tiresome.

I shouldn't be surprised. The last three "Nightmare" movies have been disappointing or downright bad. I may miss Freddy after a few years, but I can rent the videos if I want to stroll down memory lane.

Right now, all I can say is that I'm glad the nightmare is finally over.

such stature?

For seven years, Bell worked as an entertainer for the Premeire cruise line. Although he sailed from the Bahamas, Barbados, Nassau and other exotic places, Bell said "It got boring sometimes."

Luckily, a Chicago booking agent wasn't bored while aboard; he told Bell to get together a group, pack up and move to the Windy City.

"I wanted to go to land people and start to launch my reggae career. The land is where it's at," said Bell.

Bell recruited present drummer Peter Beaumont from another ship as well as a few others; they formed a "steel drum band. Since then the group has made several changes. "We've come from calypso to a hard-core reggae band," he said.

According to a Chicago Tribune interview, Bell cited the "Kutchie" as part of "the stem of the peace pipe."

After a year, the group lost Beaumont and other members to the unpredictable Chicago weather -

Bell had to go back to Jamaica to recruit keyboardist Clive McFarlane, bassist Colin Elliot and drummer Osborne Elliot.

"Things took off from there," said Bell. This version of Tony Bell & Kutchie cut the acclaimed Mercy album; unfortunately the Elliots had visa problems and were unable to return to the United States.

Bell convinced Beaumont to return as drummer and found present bass player Daryl Hall in Chicago. "He had the same groove as we had," explained Bell.

Beyond this weekend's gig at Marty's, Tony Bell & Kutchie will be performing at the Exodus II in Chicago on Oct. 5 and 6.

While doing shows and working on the second album, Tony Bell & Kutchie are also working on getting a sponsor. "We're trying to get a sponsor and a better record label. Sponsorship will probably come through a beer company - we'll probably be doing a commercial," said Bell.

"We want to get a real solid record deal and be able to work with some of the great people that are out there," he added.

Dimensional art on display at Tarble

By CASSIE SIMPSON
Activities editor

A reception honoring artist Barbara Kendrick will be held from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Friday at the Tarble Arts Center to give people an opportunity to talk with the artist about her recent works.

Kendrick's exhibition, on display through Oct. 13 at the Tarble Arts Center, is titled "Barbara Kendrick: Drawings in Two and Three Dimensions."

According to Michael Watts, director of the Tarble Arts Center, Kendrick's artwork presents wall constructions, which are two- and three-dimensional mixed media pieces made mostly of organic materials, such as sticks and vines.

"The three-dimensional pieces are made of organic materials, and the two-dimensional pieces are drawings collaged with both man-made and organic materials," Watts said. "All of her works deal with the the human figure."

"Barbara Kendrick is currently on the faculty of the School of Art and Design at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana, where she teaches painting," he added. "She holds an MFA in painting and drawing from Ohio State University, and a BFA in printmaking from the University of Nebraska."

According to Watts, Kendrick has received fellowships from the Illinois Arts Council and the Mid-America Arts Alliance.

"The reception is to give anybody who is interested the opportunity to meet with her and talk to her about her work," Watts said.

"It is scheduled in conjunction with National Arts Week, which is a period of time set aside to draw attention to the Arts."

There is no admission charge to the reception, and the public is invited to attend.

Two renowned musicians to perform in annual Chamber Music Series

By DAN BUSHBY
Staff writer

Violinist Leopold La Fosse and pianist Uriel Tsachor will start things off Sunday in the 10th annual Chamber Music Series in the Tarble Arts Center.

La Fosse has toured the world, and is currently a teacher of violin at the University of Iowa, while Tsachor has played throughout Europe and with the New York Symphony.

"Artists from New York, Los Angeles and Boston visit our center," said George Sanders, chairman of the Tarble Music Committee.

"We never have the same artists twice, so it's good to come out at every chance."

This is the first of four programs to be performed this year, and each is sponsored by the university music department.

Tickets for all four shows this season are $8 for students and senior citizens, while general admission tickets are $16. They may be purchased at the Tarble Arts Center.

The concerts will run for nearly two hours, and there will be a reception after the concerts, with drinks and cookies. Students are also allowed to meet the performers at the reception.

Is she dying to eat or dying to be thin?

Either way, she has a serious problem. But like countless other young women who suffer from an eating disorder, she refuses to face reality.

The bulimic alternately gorges herself with food and then relies on vomiting and laxatives to keep from gaining weight. The anorexic finds normal body size and shape repulsive. She literally exercises and starves herself to death.

If the vicious cycle continues, she will wreak havoc on her teeth, kidneys, intestines, and heart. Not to mention her personal and professional life. She needs help.

At The Carle Pavilion, we specialize in treating people who suffer from bulimia and anorexia nervosa. Our staff consists of physicians, dietitians, addiction counselors, therapists, and psychiatrists—all eating disorder experts.

Treatment focuses on changing behavior and a person's relationship with food. Depending on the medical and psychological severity of the disease, therapy can range from outpatient visits, intensive half-day or full day treatment, or full hospitalization. Post-meal therapy helps patients stay on track and provides support in coping with food, eating and body image. Family support is an integral component of treatment.

For confidential help for yourself, or for someone you love, call The Carle Pavilion, day or night, at 1-800-373-1700.

Women's tennis hosts alumni match Saturday

By RYAN GIUSTI
Staff writer

When the women's tennis team hits the court Saturday, there will be some familiar faces across the net.

The Lady Panthers will host the Alumni 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Weller Courts. The match will feature players from past Eastern teams competing against current Lady Panther players. But the feature matchup may not be between players, but between coaches. Former coach Grant Alexander will take on his replacement John Ross. Alexander headed the Lady Panthers for six seasons before Ross took over this year.

Ross is unsure how he will fare against Alexander.

"It depends how much he has been playing," Ross said. "If he has been playing everyday, it will be a very difficult match. I haven't played in a match in a long time."

There are also several other Eastern Alumni set to appear in Saturday's match. Among them will be Ross' voluntary assistant and former Lady Panther tennis player Kim Rhodes. Others set to play are Lauri Neate, Sherill Piszczek, Marrine McKeon, and Dawn Pavlic. There will probably be more players added by Saturday.

"It's a good chance for the Alumni to get in touch with this years team," Ross said. "Many of the women haven't been back in a while and they will get to see how the campus has changed since they left."

Panther golfers host EIU invite this weekend

Eastern's golf team will host its only tournament of the fall season this weekend when the 1991 EIU Golf Invitational swings into action at Mattoon Country Club.

The Panthers will field two squads as will Bradley and Southern Illinois-Edwardsville. Other teams entered include the University of Cincinnati, DePaul, the University of Indianapolis, Southern Indiana and Western Illinois. The two-day tourney begins at 12:30 p.m. with a shotgun start Friday.

"I expect us to play well on our home course," said Panther head coach Paul Lueken, of the par-72 Mattoon layout. "This should be an extremely competitive tournament. It's a very strong field. From top to bottom, it could be the strongest field ever."

Although Lueken said he hasn't decided on his lineup yet, one player that will be competing is senior Tom Rank, who is the only senior playing on Lueken's 13-man squad.

"I anticipate he'll play well," said Lueken of Rank. "We expect to see some pretty good scores. We've got the advantage of us playing the course, because there weren't any practice rounds."

Lueken said his squad is aware that this weekend's scores are a big factor in who will play in the Mid-Continent Conference Championship, which begins Monday.

"This will determine who gets to go," said Lueken. "It has quite a bearing on it. The players know that and they're ready to play."

Lack of adjustments hurts Lady Panthers

By KEITH FARROLL
Staff writer

The Lady Panthers started off strong, but could not handle the DePaul Blue Demon attack Wednesday as they lost, 15-13, 8-15, 5-15, 9-15.

Coach Betty Ralston said one thing her team is not doing well is adjusting to the opponents defense. Eastern had 16 kills in the first game and 19 kills in the second. In the third game, however, the Lady Panthers put down nine kills and in the final game of match they only had six kills.

"We're not going to win matches when we have six and nine kills in the games," said Ralston.

Another key to the match was the number of passing errors her team put together. The Panthers totaled up 17 receiving errors while the Blue Demons only committed five errors.

"We lost more than a full game on receiving errors," said Ralston. "That was not one of our better receiving games. That was the key to the match."

"DePaul is a good team. We didn't play well enough to win. Our passing wasn't there," Ralston said.

Bad passing caused problems for the Lady Panthers. Ralston said the bad passing took the Eastern middle hitters out of the offense.

"We'll be working on our receiving game. We need confidence in our serve receiving game," said Ralston.

Another factor which led to the Lady Panther loss was the inability to stop DePaul's outside hitter, said Susanne Fogarty. She had 32 kills in the match while Jennifer Skarp, another Blue Demon outside hitter, had 17 kills.

Eastern, which is 7-9, had strong efforts from juniors Beth Foster, Lori Olson and sophomore Susie Green. Foster, who was voted Most Valuable Panther of the game by her team, had eight kills, eight blocks and 12 digs.

"She got her hands on everything. She did a good job blocking," said Ralston about Foster's performance.

Ranked teams invade EIU Classic

By KEN RYAN
Staff writer

There will be some changes in the soccer polls following this weekend, when four teams ranked in the Midwest invade Lakeside Field for the EIU Classic.

Northern Illinois, ranked fifth in the Midwest, will take on ninth ranked Southwest Missouri State Friday at 2 p.m. That game will be followed by a 4 p.m. contest between sixth ranked Eastern and Southern Methodist, who are ranked second in the Midwest and eleventh in the nation.

SMU, always a national power, heads into the classic with a 4-1 record and should be Eastern's toughest opponent so far this season.

The Mustangs, who have a streak of 16 consecutive seasons without a losing record, lone loss came to the Hoosiers of Indiana University, which is ranked fifth in the nation with a record of 7-0-1.

SMU, which had a record of 18-4-1 and lost to UCLA in the quarterfinal round of the NCAA tournament a year ago, has eight returning starters back this year.

With these numbers, the Mustangs should be the favorite going into the tournament. SMU head coach Schellas Hyndman, who coached the Panther squad from 1977 to 1983, said that he considers Eastern the favorite, however.

"On paper I think SMU might be the favorite," Hyndman said. "But I think Eastern has to be the favorite. They have the home field and they can accomplish the most with a tournament victory."

Hyndman said that his team has played well and he looks forward to his return to Eastern.

"I think we have done a lot of things well," Hyndman said. "This EIU Classic will give us a good test, playing quality teams like Eastern and Northern Illinois."

"Eastern is off to one of its best starts. Cizo (Mosnia, Eastern's head coach) has done a good job with the group he has put together and the recruits he has brought in."

Eastern will then play Southwest Missouri State Sunday at 4 p.m.

The Bears are off to a 3-3 start and are coming off of a 3-2 loss to Rockhurst College. They have a balanced offensive attack and are led by senior forward Scott Swain, who has two goals.

Southwest Missouri had been on a three game winning streak before the game with Rockhurst and are looking to get back on track in the EIU Classic.

Sophomore Kevin Beaudry and junior Eddie Rock share time in the net. Rock is 3-0 and has goals against average of 0.86 in 210 minutes.

One team that Eastern will not play is Northern Illinois.

The Huskies have been on a roll, winning three consecutive games. They have a 3-1-1 record and head coach Willie Roy said that his team could be playing better.

"We're a decent team," Roy said. "But like any team, we have plenty of room for improvement. We are just tickled to be invited to play in this tournament."

Eastern, which is 5-1, is looking to gain some respect and maybe move up in the rankings with a tournament victory.

Mosnia said that he looks forward to the stiff competition that the classic will provide his Panther squad.

"There are definitely some quality teams, especially SMU," Mosnia said. "They are ranked 11th and our team is going to be up for them. Any time you play good teams, it helps you out because it's a measuring stick of where the team is at."

Harriers host EIU Open Saturday

By BRIAN HARRIS
Staff writer

The men's and women's cross country teams will host their first home meet of the season on Saturday with the EIU Invitational.

The men hosted one early season competition against Eastern's alumni in the Alumni Open and have competed in two invitationals since. Last year the Alumni Open was the only home meet on the team's schedule. This year, both Panther teams will host their own invite and conference meets.

Ironically, the men and women have the exact same meet schedules this season. Women's head coach John Craft said this happened totally by accident, and that he and men's head coach Neil Moore set up their schedules separately.

Both Panther squads have gotten off to a good start this season.

The women have captured fourth place honors at their last two invitational appearances. While the men, who got off to a rough start with a ninth place finish at the Bradley Invitational, redeemed themselves with a seventh out of 30 showing at the Midwest Collegiate Championships in Kenosha, Wis., last week.

The men's lead runner Scott Touchette was recently named the Mid-Continent Athlete of the week for his seventh place finish at Bradley. While the lady Panthers had six runners complete 5,000 meters in less than 20:00 at Kenosha respectively.

The women will again run over a 5,000-meter (3.11 miles) course, while the men will be competing over 8,000 (4.97 miles). Both courses have been changed so that more of each race can be seen by spectators.

Some of the top teams expected to compete are Indiana State, Western Illinois and Southern Illinois Edwardsville.

Along with Touchette the men's front group will include senior Eric Baron, who at Kenosha ran a personal best of 25:57 for 8,000 meters, and sophomores John Eggenberger, Kenric Bond and Eric Graham.

Touchette ran 25:13 in placing seventh at Kenosha which is two seconds faster than the course record on the old Lantz course. Although he'll have to beat Indiana State's Kyle Hobbs if he wants to set a record on the new course. Hobbs was the individual winner at both Bradley and Kenosha.

The women have a close knit front pack lead by sophomore Brooke Roberts, senior Laurie Mizener and junior Ti Jaye Rhudy, as well as a talented group of freshman runners.

The invitational is scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m. with the women's race followed by the men's race at about 11:15.

Southern Illinois hosts Illinois State to top big weekend

By DON O'BRIEN
Associate sports editor

The Gateway Conference has gotten some national recognition in the past week by landing four of its teams in the top 20 of the Division I-AA poll. Now it is time for those teams to prove they are worthy of the top 20 billings when all four head into action Saturday.

The top game on the docket features No. 18 Southern Illinois hosting No. 20 Illinois State in what has turned out to be a crucial conference matchup.

The Salukis (4-0), who were picked in a tie for last with Western Illinois in a preseason coaches poll, knocked off conference preseason favorite Northern Iowa with a 21-20 comeback win last week and have already equaled their win total from the previous two years combined.

The Redbirds (3-0) are off to their best start since 1968 and a win Saturday would give them their first 4-0 start since 1967. It will be the first time that the two teams have ever played each other with undefeated records.

"The only thing we can go by is the film of the Northern Iowa game and they are awfully good," said Redbird head coach Jim Heacock on how his team is preparing to knock off the surprise Salukis. "Southern Illinois moves the ball on offense and are playing exceptionally well on defense."

"We really aren't a good football team right now," Saluki head coach Bob Smith said. "We have made enough mistakes in the first four games to last three seasons. I don't think we have played as well as I expected us to."

The Saluki and Redbird offenses should take center-stage Saturday. The Redbirds are averaging 28.7 points per game while the Salukis are averaging 25.3.

Illinois State's offensive attack is led by tailback Toby Davis. Davis, a junior from Galesburg, set a Gateway record with 255 yards rushing in the Redbirds' 42-7 win over Southeast Missouri State last week and was named the Gateway's Offensive Player of the Week.

"We hope to play good team offense," said Heacock, who enters the game with a 14-22 record and is in his fourth year at Illinois State. "Toby has been productive with his running, but the offensive line has made the biggest improvement on the team."

The Salukis are led by senior quarterback Brian Downey, who is ranked 15th in national passing efficiency. Downey's main target is junior split end Jason Roebuck, who leads the Gateway in receiving yards per game and is second in receptions per game.

"We are a young team and we'll grow as the season goes on, but we haven't been on all burners yet," said Smith, who is 8-18 in three years at Southern. "We have to have a little luck and stay healthy (to be successful). We have to be consistent on offense and not look for the big play all of the time."

In other Gateway games this weekend, 17th ranked Northern Iowa travels west to face second ranked Idaho in a Gateway-Big Sky matchup. No. 12 Southwest Missouri State takes on North Texas State, a team that lost 72-0 to top ranked Nevada a week ago. Western Illinois hosts No. 11 Sam Houston State, Indiana State hosts Ball State and Eastern Illinois is idle.
